INTRODUCTION

[1] Delegates returned this year for the Criminal Section meeting of the Uniform Law Conference of Canada (ULCC), which held its 106th meeting in Ottawa, ON, from August 12-16, 2024.

[2] This year more than 35 delegates, from twelve (12) federal, provincial, and territorial jurisdictional delegations participated in the deliberations of the Criminal Section. With respect to provincial delegations, Prince Edward Island did not send a delegation this year. With respect to the territories, the Northwest Territories' delegation was also absent from the Criminal section of this year's conference.

[3] Delegates brought a broad array of expertise in criminal law to the benefit of the section, both from within and outside government. They included policy counsel, prosecutors, as well as members of the defence bar and the judiciary. A number of organizations apart from governments and prosecution agencies were also represented by the delegates attending this year's conference, including: the Barreau du Québec; The BC First Nations Justice Council; the Canadian Association of Provincial Court Judges (CAPCJ); the Canadian Bar Association (CBA); The Criminal Trial Lawyers' Association (Alberta); the Court of Quebec; the Criminal Lawyers Association (CLA); Norway House Cree Nation; The Quebec Defense Lawyers Association (AQAAD) and the Law Commission of Canada.

OPENING PLENARY

[4] At the opening plenary of the ULCC, the President of the ULCC, Matthew Hinshaw, delivered a land acknowledgement and opening words. The Honourable Arif Virani, Minister of Justice and Attorney General of Canada, delivered welcoming remarks to ULCC delegates via video. M. Hinshaw introduced the members of the ULCC executive committee, as well as Pierre Daigneault, ULCC executive director. Jurisdictional representatives present introduced the members of their delegations, and Manon Dostie provided an overview of the week's social events.

[5] M. Hinshaw delivered the president's report. In plenary session, Sarah Dafoe explained 7 proposed changes to the ULCC bylaws and constitution, which passed with one vote against. With respect to the financial business of the ULCC, financial resolutions were put forward, and resolutions related to the ULCC auditor and financial statements passed unanimously. S. Dafoe spoke to the work of the nomination committee. Anny Bernier on behalf of Craig Savage provided an update on the week's work of the ULCC Criminal Section. Christine Badcock provided an overview of the work of the ULCC Civil Section. Laura Pitcairn provided an update on behalf of the Roles Review committee.<sup>1</sup>

MEETING OF THE CRIMINAL SECTION

[6] The Criminal Section convened to order on Monday, August 12, 2024 following the combined opening plenary. Anny Bernier, previous chair of the criminal section (2023), presided as Chair on behalf of Craig Savage for the first day of the conference, and Aleksander Godlewski served as Secretary.

[7] A. Bernier delivered opening remarks on behalf of C. Savage, and both A. Bernier and A. Godlewski noted several housekeeping items for the benefit of attending delegates including: the amount of time that would be available to discuss resolutions; a reminder of the confidentiality of the proceedings; and logistics on how to operate Sharepoint and amend resolutions if required. A. Godlewski also noted that, taking advantage of the presence of the annual meeting in Ottawa, the Department of Justice Canada (DOJ) would be sending several observers who would be present at the meeting over the course of the week.

[8] Matthew Taylor, Federal Jurisdictional Representative, delivered the Federal Jurisdictional Representative's Report. M. Taylor noted the challenge of tracking all of the diverse work of the ULCC, and the DOJ's appreciation for the way the ULCC does its work, and its importance. As a highlight of the report, M. Taylor noted that of the 150 resolutions considered in the past 5 years by the ULCC, at least 9 have found their way into legislation.<sup>2</sup>

[9] Chloé Rousselle moved the approval of the Criminal Section agenda, seconded by L. Pitcairn. The agenda of the Criminal Section was adopted with unanimous consent.

[13] The Criminal Section received reports on the progress of its five (5) Working Groups, four (4) of which provided status reports, and one which provided a final report:

1) Section 490 Working Group (Final Report)

[14] Nadine Nesbitt presented the final report of the Working Group examining section 490 of the Criminal Code on behalf of Nicholas Reithmeier, chair of the working group. This working group was reconstituted at the August 2022 meeting of the ULCC and undertook a comprehensive reconsideration of section 490 of the Criminal Code and related foundational parts of section 489.1.

with the goal of reviewing section 672.26 and related sections of the Criminal Code for possible legislative reform as to how the issue of fitness should be tried when an accused person has elected trial by judge and jury.

[18] The group has met 12 times since it was established, unfortunately due to an unanticipated absence of one member, and the appointment of two members of the group to the bench, there were insufficient members available to continue the work and reach a meaningful consensus recommendation.

[19] The status report of the working group was accepted, with the working group to provide its next report to the Criminal section at the 2025 annual meeting (23-0-0, 23 in favour).

3) Working Group on the Treatment of Animals in the Criminal Code

The group is chaired by Anthony Cotnoir, who replaced Lina Thériault this year as chair of the working group. The enabling resolution of the group is as follows:

We recommend the creation of a working group (WG), chaired by a representative from Québec, with the mandate to update, in light of the coming into force of Bill C-5 (An Act to amend the Criminal Code and the Controlled Drugs and Substances Act, ch. 15, 2022) and the various decisions that found mandatory minimum penalties unconstitutional for sexual offences committed against a person under 16 years of age, the 2013 final report “Statutory Exemptions to Mandatory Minimum Penalties”. The WG can also opine on whether or not the mechanism discussed in paragraph 36 of the Lloyd decision should be implemented in the Criminal Code and if so, what should be the parameters of such a mechanism in Canada.

[31] Resolution ON-CLA2024-01 created a new working group with the goal of examining whether any recommendations should be made relating to restrictions on the name or other identifying information of accused persons, with a chair of the working group to be identified. The enabling resolution of the group is as follows:

That a ULCC working group be formed to make recommendations concerning the restriction of the publication of the name or other identifying information of an accused person, given the need to protect the privacy interests, dignity, security of the person and the presumption of innocence relating to that person, while recognizing public safety and other interests of justice.
